A life shaped by the Qur'an

Memorization with excellence and adab

Tahfeez ul Quran is a full-time memorization program for boys and girls ages nine and above who are ready to devote themselves to the Qur'an in a disciplined, nurturing environment.

Students progress through an individualized system of new memorization, recent revision, and long-term revision. Tajwīd, makhārij, ṣifāt, character, punctuality, and responsibility are woven into the daily routine.

> Our aim is not only that students complete the memorization of the Qur'an, but that they preserve it, recite it beautifully, honor it through their conduct, and carry it throughout their lives.

Memorize

Build strong, accurate new lessons at a pace appropriate to each student.

Preserve

Develop a dependable daily revision system that protects earlier memorization.

Embody

Grow in worship, discipline, humility, service, and Qur'anic character.

Program foundations

- Individualized memorization targets
- Integrated Tajwīd and pronunciation
- Regular progress evaluation
- Daily teacher listening and correction
- Strong parent–teacher partnership
- Preparation for lifelong revision

Two pathways, one shared mission

Choose the track that fits your family

Ages 9+	2–3 years	Mon–Fri
Boys and girls	Typical completion range	8:00 AM–3:30 PM

Track One

Full-Time Hifz

$200 / month

For families seeking a complete full-time Qur'an memorization schedule without the academic-schooling component.

- Daily new memorization
- Recent and long-term revision
- Tajwīd, makhārij, and ṣifāt
- Islamic character and student formation

Track Two

Hifz + Academics

$400 / month

Combines the full Hifz program with continued academic schooling through American K12.

- Available for grades K–12
- 90 minutes of academic study daily
- American K12 academic provider
- Full memorization and revision schedule

Flexible enrollment: Official enrollment opens July 1. Year-round admission requests may be considered based on student readiness, classroom capacity, and administrative approval.

Entry preparation

Applicants should have completed Qāʿidah and developed dependable Nāẓirah fluency. Final readiness is determined through a Qur'an-reading assessment.

A balanced daily system

New lesson, recent revision, lasting preservation

Every student follows an individualized plan built around three connected responsibilities.

1

Sabaq

The new lesson. Students begin with a manageable amount—often several lines—and increase gradually as accuracy, fluency, and retention strengthen.

2

Sabqī

Recent revision. Newly memorized pages are repeated consistently so that lessons move from short-term familiarity to secure memorization.

3

Manzil

Long-term revision. Earlier memorization follows a rotating daily schedule, increasing as the student's completed portion grows.

Daily expectations

- Prepare the assigned new lesson carefully
- Correct mistakes before advancing
- Maintain the rotating Manzil cycle
- Recite to the teacher with accuracy
- Complete assigned recent revision
- Practice at home with parent support

Tajwīd and pronunciation

Makhārij & Ṣifāt

Students learn correct articulation points and letter qualities through direct correction and repeated application.

Applied Tajwīd

Rules are taught within daily recitation so that accuracy becomes a consistent habit rather than a separate subject.

> Memorization targets are set by the teacher according to fluency, retention, age, attendance, and the quality of revision—not by speed alone.

A typical two-to-three-year journey

Progress that is measured by quality

Completion time varies by student. The following pathway provides a practical framework while allowing teachers to adjust targets responsibly.

Phase 1 Foundation

Focus: Nāẓirah fluency, memorization habits, basic Tajwīd, short surahs, and a dependable daily routine.
Milestone: Consistent Sabaq, Sabqī, and Manzil performance with increasing independence.

Phase 2 Development

Focus: Increased daily memorization, a larger revision cycle, stronger mistake correction, and sustained concentration.
Milestone: Steady progress through the Qur'an without weakening earlier portions.

Phase 3 Completion

Focus: Final ajzāʾ, comprehensive revision, connecting passages, and full-Qur'an recitation readiness.
Milestone: Successful completion review and graduation assessment.

Assessment cycle

Daily

Teacher records accuracy, preparedness, mistakes, and revision quality.

Periodic

Students are tested on selected earlier portions and overall retention.

Completion

A comprehensive review confirms readiness for graduation recognition.

Completion requirements

- Memorization of all thirty ajzāʾ
- Strong command of recent revision
- Satisfactory attendance and conduct
- Acceptable Tajwīd and pronunciation
- Reliable long-term revision
- Successful final evaluation

Certification and any formal ijāzah pathway are awarded according to the student's recitation level and the approval of qualified instructors.

Growing around the Qur'an

Discipline, character, and partnership

Student expectations

- Attend consistently and arrive on time
- Bring lessons fully prepared
- Respect teachers, classmates, and the muṣḥaf
- Follow dress and classroom expectations
- Complete assigned home revision
- Limit distractions that weaken progress
- Practice honesty when reporting preparation
- Represent Jamia Suffah with dignity

Parent responsibilities

- Provide a consistent home revision time
- Listen, supervise, or arrange support
- Protect sleep and morning punctuality
- Maintain communication with teachers
- Review progress reports
- Attend requested parent meetings
- Encourage without creating unhealthy pressure
- Model respect for the Qur'an at home

> A successful Hifz journey is a partnership between student, teacher, and family. Consistency at home is often the difference between temporary memorization and lifelong preservation.

Progress support

Monitoring

Teachers track preparation, mistakes, revision, attendance, and daily consistency.

Communication

Families receive progress updates and may be invited to conferences when support is needed.

Intervention

Targets may be reduced, revision increased, or a support plan introduced before the student advances.

Student wellbeing: The program seeks to combine high expectations with patience, encouragement, and age-appropriate guidance.
